INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT

To the Board of Trustees
Institute for Policy Studies

We have audited the accompanying financial statements of Institute for Policy Studies, which comprise the statements of financial position as of December 31, 2014 and 2013, and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended, and the related notes to the financial statements.

Management's Responsibility for the Financial Statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of these financial statements in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America; this includes the design, implementation, and maintenance of internal control relevant to the preparation and fair presentation of financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

Auditors' Responsibility

Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits. We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free from material misstatement.

An audit involves performing procedures to obtain audit evidence about the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. The procedures selected depend on the auditors' judgment, including the assessment of the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to fraud or error. In making those risk assessments, the auditors consider internal control relevant to the entity's preparation and fair presentation of the financial statements in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the entity's internal control. Accordingly, we express no such opinion. An audit also includes evaluating the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of significant accounting estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements.

We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our audit opinion.

Opinion

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of Institute for Policy Studies as of December 31, 2014 and 2013, and the changes in its net assets and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

INSTITUTE FOR POLICY STUDIES

Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2014 and 2013

1. Nature of Operations

Institute for Policy Studies (the Institute), founded in 1963, is a transnational center for research, education and social invention. The Institute sponsors critical examination of the assumptions and policies that define America's posture on domestic and international issues and offers alternative strategies and visions. Areas of focus include domestic policy, national security, international economics and human rights. A tax-exempt, nonprofit organization that accepts no government funds, the Institute guards the freedom of its scholars to be both critical and creative.

The work of the Institute reflects the realization that the social and political problems facing the United States – militarism, environmental decay and economic injustice – are all part of a larger global context. In an effort to seek alternatives to these problems, in 1973, the Institute established its international program, which addresses the fundamental disparity between the rich and poor and nations of the world, investigates its causes and develops alternatives for its remedy. The activities of the Institute are funded primarily through contributions and grants from other organizations and foundations.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The Institute prepares its financial statements on the accrual basis of accounting and in accordance with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents consist of monies held in demand deposit accounts and highly liquid investments with initial maturity dates of three months or less. However, cash equivalents exclude money market funds and other cash held within investment accounts, which are normally held for a longer period of time.

Contributions and Grants Receivable

Unconditional promises to give that are expected to be collected within one year are recorded at net realizable value. Unconditional promises to give that are expected to be collected in future years are recorded at the present value of their estimated future cash flows. The discounts on those amounts are computed using risk-free interest rates appropriate for the expected term of the promise to give. Amortization of the discount is included in contributions and grants revenue in the accompanying statements of activities.

The Institute uses the allowance method to determine uncollectible contributions and grants receivable. The allowance is based on management's analysis of specific contributions. As a result, it is possible that the Institute's estimate of the carrying amount of contributions and grants receivable could change in the near term. At December 31, 2014 and 2013, there was no allowance for doubtful accounts or discount as the entire balance has been deemed by management to be fully collectible within one year.

Investments

Investments consist of equity securities, cash and money market funds, government securities, corporate fixed income, and municipal bonds. Investments are recorded in the financial statements at fair value. Fair value is the price that would be received to sell an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Interest, dividends and realized and unrealized gains or losses are recorded as investment income when earned.

Property and Equipment

Property and equipment over $1,000 with a projected useful life exceeding one year are capitalized and recorded at cost. Depreciation is computed using straight-line method over the estimated useful lives of the assets, which range from three to seven years. Leasehold improvements are amortized using the straight-line method over the lesser of the lease term and their estimated useful lives.

The cost of property and equipment retired or disposed of is removed from the accounts along with the related accumulated depreciation and any gain or loss is reflected in income or expense in the accompanying statements of activities. Major additions are capitalized, while replacements, maintenance and repairs that do not improve or extend the lives of the respective assets are expensed as incurred.

Artwork

Artwork consists of donated photographs and sketches and is carried at its recorded value, which is the estimated fair market value at the time of donation. The artwork is not being depreciated.

2. Summary of Significant Accounting Policies (continued)

Gift Annuities

The Institute has received irrevocable gift annuities from several donors. The donors give the Institute a cash contribution and, in return, the Institute agrees to make payments to the donor for the remaining life of the donor or the donor's designated beneficiary. A liability is recorded in the accompanying statements of financial position at the present value of the expected future payments owed by the Institute under these agreements based on current rates in the Internal Revenue Service's actuarial tables for annuities.

Actuarial gains or losses resulting from changes in assumptions used to calculate the liability for the present value of future annuity payments are recorded as increases or decreases in the respective net asset class on the accompanying statements of activities. Upon the donor's death, the remaining liability is eliminated and recognized as revenue.

Classification of Net Assets

The net assets of the Institute are reported as follows:

- Unrestricted net assets represent the portion of expendable funds that are available for support of the Institute's general operations and are not subject to donor-imposed stipulations.
- Temporarily restricted net assets represent amounts that are subject to donor-imposed restrictions to be used for a particular purpose or within a specific time period.

Revenue Recognition

Unconditional contributions and grants are recognized as revenue when received or promised and are reported as temporarily restricted support if they are received with donor or grantor stipulations that limit the use of donated assets. When a donor restriction expires, that is, when a stipulated time restriction ends or purpose restriction is accomplished, temporarily restricted net assets are reclassified to unrestricted net assets and reported in the statements of activities as net assets released from restrictions. Conditional contributions and grants are not recognized as revenue until the conditions are substantially met.

Contribution revenue from charitable gift annuities is recognized at the date the agreement is established, net of the liability recorded for the present value of the estimated future payments to be made to the respective donors or other beneficiaries. The present value of payments to beneficiaries of charitable gift annuities is calculated using discount rates, which represent the risk-free rates in existence at the date of the gift. Gains or losses resulting from changes in assumptions used to calculate the discount are recorded as change in value of split-interest agreements in the accompanying statements of activities.

Revenue from all other sources is recognized when earned.

Functional Allocation of Expenses

The cost of providing various programs and other activities has been summarized on a functional basis in the accompanying statements of activities. Accordingly, certain indirect costs have been allocated among the programs and supporting services benefited based on management's estimate of shared costs.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect certain reported amounts and disclosures. Accordingly, actual results could differ from those estimates.

3. Concentrations of Credit Risks

The Institute maintains cash deposits with various financial institutions that may, from time to time, exceed insurable limits. Management periodically assesses the financial condition of the institutions and believes that the risk of any loss is minimal.

The Institute also invests funds in a professionally managed portfolio. Such investments are exposed to market and credit risks. Therefore, the Institute's investments may be subject to significant fluctuations in fair value. As a result, the investment balances reported in the accompanying financial statements may not be reflective of the portfolio's value during subsequent periods.

INSTITUTE FOR POLICY STUDIES

Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2014 and 2013

4. Investments

The Institute's investments consist of the following at December 31:

	2014	2013
Equity securities	$ 709,673	$ 575,990
Cash and money market funds	550,160	230,131

	2014	2013
Interest and dividends	$ 24,483	$ 21,473

Unrealized gain	11,270	86,208
Total investment income	$ 126,964	$ 140,847

5. Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The Institute adopted the provisions of Accounting Standards Codification (ASC) Topic 820, Fair Value Measurements, for financial assets and liabilities measured on a recurring basis. ASC defines fair value, establishes a framework for measuring fair value in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and requires disclosures about fair value measurements.

ASC emphasizes that fair value is a market-based measurement, not an entity-specific measurement, and, therefore, a fair value measurement should be determined based on the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the asset or liability. As a basis for considering market participant assumptions in fair value measurements, ASC established a fair value hierarchy based upon the transparency of the inputs to the valuation of an asset or liability.

These inputs may be observable, whereby market participant assumptions are developed based on market data obtained from independent sources, and unobservable, whereby assumptions about market participant assumptions are developed by the reporting entity based on the best information available in the circumstances.

INSTITUTE FOR POLICY STUDIES

Notes to Financial Statements

December 31, 2014 and 2013

5. Fair Value of Financial Instruments (continued)

The three levels of fair value hierarchy are described as follows:

- Level 1 - Inputs based on unadjusted, quoted market prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities accessible at the measurement date.
- Level 2 - Inputs based on quoted prices in markets that are not active or model inputs that are observable, either directly or indirectly, for substantially the full term of the asset or liability, such as quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets.
- Level 3 - Unobservable inputs for the asset or liability including the reporting entity's own assumptions in determining the fair value measurement.

The following tables summarize the Institute's investments which are measured at fair value on a recurring basis, aggregated by type and the fair value hierarchy level which those measurements were made.

December 31, 2014:

	Total Fair Value	Level 1	Level 2	Level 3

Total rent expense was $271,525 and $274,391 for the years ended December 31, 2014 and 2013, respectively. At December 31, 2014, future minimum lease payments required under these operating leases are as follows:

The Institute has performed an evaluation of uncertain tax positions for the years ended December 31, 2014 and 2013, and determined that no material uncertain tax positions qualify for either recognition or disclosure in the financial statements. Information returns for the years ended December 31, 2011 or later remain subject to examination by various taxing authorities.
